MONTHLY ON-LINE HIGHLIGHTS FROM PICCERELLI, GILSTEIN & COMPANY, LLP

It's amazing how quickly the month went by and October is at our doorstep. New England offers wonderful fall activities & events (see websites one, two & three) that take no more than a short car ride to reach (okay maybe a long one for Rhode Islanders!) We encourage you to enjoy what others travel great distances to see before having to switch that heat back on. Happy fall!

FAFSA for 2022-23 Available on October 1st

If college is in your future or for someone you know, it's almost FAFSA time! October 1, 2021 kicks off the opening of the free application for federal student aid (FAFSA), which is available for incoming and returning college students for the 2022-23 academic year. In addition to federal student aid, the FAFSA is a prerequisite for grants and work-study too... [\[more\]](#)

Do I Owe Taxes if I am the Recipient of a GoFundMe Campaign?

Generally, contributions made to "crowdfunding" campaigns (such as GoFundMe) are considered to be personal gifts, and as such, are not taxed as income to the recipient. [\[more\]](#)

Can Landlords Help Businesses Make Returning to the Office More Appealing

Many businesses are grappling with what their offices will look like in post-pandemic. What has become clearer as businesses continue to function in a hybrid world is there is no one-size-fits-all solution. [\[more\]](#)
